Jerome "Jerry" Keyes Jr.

JAN 9, 1935 - JAN 15, 2024

Jerry Keyes was born in 1935. He died in January 2024 in Hawai'i. He was 89 years old.

Jerry grew up in Virginia with a love of baseball, football, and archery. The second of six children, Jerry was his father's right hand man, helping with a myriad of projects on the homefront. Jerry attended Duke University, majoring in business, and played varsity baseball while traveling home many weekends to produce and sell top quality bows. During this time, Jerry met his future wife, Barbara Van Popering, at Teela-Wooket Archery Camp.

Having no career plans during the spring semester of senior year, Jerry went to the Navy recruiting office with some of his Fraternity Brothers and decided to apply for Officer Candidate

School. During his first year in the Navy, Jerry played Navy baseball as a pitcher with a formidable forkball in his arsenal! Jerry and Barbara were married and spent their honeymoon centered around Navy baseball. They then headed to Corpus Christi, TX where Jerry started flight school on the P2V (sub trackers) aircraft. His first Navy Pilot assignment was in Honolulu, HI flying C130 cargo planes. During this time, Jerry's first two children were born and Barbara and Jerry developed many lifelong friendships. Jerry finished his Naval career in

Okinawa,

Japan.

Jerry spent the remainder of his professional life as a pilot for United Airlines. After flight school in Denver, he and Barbara moved to New Jersey where Jerry's third and fourth children were born. He flew a wide variety of different aircraft: DC8, DC10 (he was not fond of this aircraft!)

Boeing 727, 737, and finally, his favorite...the Boeing 747, flying routes to Asia and South America. He commented that flight school for the 747 was so difficult, it about killed him! But, as we all know, if Jerry wanted something, he went for it!

Jerry and Barbara raised their children in Fairfax Station, VA. Through example, Jerry set high expectations for his children and supported them in making responsible decisions.

He helped his children to follow their passions, encouraged intellectual development, and he was a doting grandfather. Once the kids flew the coop, Jerry and Barbara loved spending their retirement in Colorado. Jerry avidly enjoyed time with friends and never passed up a chance to share a good story. And, let's not forget his love of bridge, golf, computers, Duke basketball, and the stock market!

Following Barbara's death, Jerry found Marli Wedgeworh-Horst, the second love of his life, and they cherished their time together in Eagle, Highlands Ranch, and on trips near and far.

Jerry was predeceased by his wife of 64 years, Barbara Keyes, his son Jeffrey Keyes,

As the year approaches since the passing of Jerry the acceptance is more real. I meet both Jerry and Barbara in the later years. Jerry filled a void I did not know existed until his passing. His exuberant for life and adventure was contagious. As I left Hawaii, he returned to the place that gave him peace. The knowledge of this definitely made his passing a bit more easier to accept. I made not of known him long, but I long to visit him and learn more. He's missed so much. ❤️
